Health Department Urges TB Skin Tests For School Children

"If we make full use of the scientific tools we now have in hand, we can stamp out tuberculosis completely," says Doctor C. D. McLeod, of the Coffee County Department of Health. The tuberculosis death rate is at a record low, but it is still one of the nation's greatest killers among contagious diseases. Dr. McLeod urges wide use of the TB skin test, particularly among children. Nine states now have TB testing programs for their school children. The skin test for TB is simple, quick and practically painless. It is also inexpensive and reliable. A positive test does not necessarily mean that the person has active TB, because people usually react positively even when the TB is inactive or latent. But it does signal the need for further examination to make sure all is well. A negative test is a good indication that there is no TB. Most important, the test can detect the disease early, sometimes when latent, before it becomes active. For example, in the state of Ohio in 1960 about 22 per cent of the people who died from TB never knew they had it. The simple skin test and early treatment might have prevented many of these deaths and stopped spread of the disease to others.

"HOLIDAY HOUSE" TO BE
EVENT OF DECEMBER 8-9
AT BAXTER BRYAN HOME

The Azalea Garden Club of Elba is sponsoring a special project a "Holiday House" on December 8-9. The beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. Baxter Bryan has been selected as the ideal setting for the traditional Christmas decorations.

Chairmen of all committees responsible for decorating the grounds and the different areas of the home met with Mrs. Oliver Williams, the overall chairman, in her home on Tuesday to work out the final plans.

Mrs. J. M. Buchanan, chairman of tickets, has announced that tickets are now available from members of the club, Mrs. George Mathis or Mrs. Maxine Prescott.

The Bryan home, situated on the Bantley Road, will be open for viewing on Sunday afternoon, December 8 from 3 to 8 o'clock, and on Sunday afternoon, December 9 from 9 to 6 o'clock.

Funds realized will be used in furthering the beautification project for the city.

An invitation is being extended to the public to view this lovely home attractively decorated in the Christmas motif. The club will appreciate wide-spread response and cooperation all to make this a successful undertaking.

DECIE SPURLIN CIRCLE OF WESTSIDE BAPTIST
MET MONDAY EVENING

"World Awareness" was the program subject for the Decie Spurlin Circle of Westside Baptist W. M. U. which met Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Gerald Crook with Mrs. John Cotten as joint hostess. Those taking part on the program were: Mrs. J. B. Clark, Mrs. J. A. Boutwell, Mrs. Paul Lowery, Mrs. Gerald Crook, and Mrs. Ulna Mack.

Mrs. Roy Helms, circle chairman, presided and conducted a brief business session. Plans to send a "Thanksgiving basket" to a worthy family were made. The meeting was dismissed with prayer by Mrs. J. B. Clark.

During the social hour punch, sandwiches and cookies were served. The refreshment table was covered with a white cut-work cloth over green. A crystal punch bowl, encircled with dainty white flowers and greenery, was placed in the center of the table.

Members attended, who have not been named were: Mrs. Douglas Ellenburg, Mrs. Clifton Boutwell, Mrs. Hershel Taylor, and Mrs. Curtis Fuller.

MRS. LANTIE MATTHEWS COMPLIMENTED AT BIRTHDAY DINNER

Friends and relatives of Mrs. Lantie Matthews surprised her with a birthday dinner at her home Sunday. The delicious covered dish meal was served on a long table placed in the backyard.

Those included in this pleasant occasion were: Mrs. Douglas Ellenburg, Mrs. Clifton Boutwell, Mrs. Hershel Taylor, and Mrs. Curtis Fuller.

Mrs. Sara Rainer left Saturday to visit through the Thanksgiving holidays with her daughter, Miss Martha Preston Kelley, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Sutley, Mr. and Mrs. James Kelley and Mrs. and Mrs. Johnny D. Matthews.

ANNUAL LUNCHEON HELD
AT HOME OF MRS. CLARK
WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 14

The spacious and lovely home of Mrs. Fulton Clark was the site of the annual luncheon of the Elba Garden Club held at the home of Mrs. Clark on Wednesday, November 14.

Seasonal flowers were used throughout the house. In the dining room the table was overlaid with a handsome white linen cloth. Its center decoration was an artistic arrangement of pine cones, red berries and fruit.

At the front entrance there was a horn of plenty filled with red berries against a welcome sign which read, "Hi! Come In."

Small tables were set up in the living room and music was played by Mrs. Clark.

Places at the tables by attractive name cards. An elaborate luncheon was served at 12 o'clock.

The club members and guests assembled in the den at ten o'clock. Mrs. Duke Tatum Sr., president, presided over a business session.

Mrs. Oliver Williams called the roll. Each member responded to roll call with "What I am most thankful for."

Mrs. Williams, overall chairman of Holiday House made announcements to her various committees. Mrs. Harris Murphy conducted the drawing for door prizes.

Mrs. Margaret Buchanan and Mrs. C. E. Dorsey Sr. were winners.

Mrs. Elmer Taylor, program chairman, introduced Mrs. H. R. Shows, of Luverne, who spoke interestingly on the subject of landscaping. She added interest and information to her talk by using slides and by passing labeled springs of many different shrubs among the ladies as she continued to talk about them. Mrs. Shows gave a wealth of helpful instruction and held her audience at rapt attention for more than an hour.

After the luncheon the ladies were reluctant to leave for the morning had passed all too soon.

Club members attending were: the two hostesses, Mrs. Fulton Clark and Mrs. Sam Rowe, and Mrs. Manum Buchanan, Mrs. M. L. P. Mullins, Mrs. Boyd Murphy, Mrs. Harris Murphy, Mrs. Frances Paris, Mrs. J. V. Wright, Mrs. J. B. Clark, Mrs. J. A. Boutwell, Mrs. Paul Lowery, Mrs. Gerald Crook, and Mrs. Ulna Mack.

Guests of the club members were: Mrs. P. G. Mathis, Mrs. H. Jeter Sr., Mrs. Mace Cook, Mrs. Baxter Bryan, Mrs. Roy DeVane, Mrs. Sara Rainer, Mrs. Enoy Corbett, Mrs. Jack Vaughan, Mrs. Victor Taylor, of Ozark; Mrs. Mary Boyd of Enterprise; Mrs. J. W. THROUGH THE KEYHOLE

HOMEcoming is just that. There is something about going back to the scene of one's youth that quickens the heart. Even though the campus changes, the aged trees still cast lacy shadows over the quadrangle and the chimes still ring out the hour. It is indeed "Alma Mater."

We left Elba in the wee small hours of darkness last Saturday, stopping briefly to pick up Betty, Oscar and Murray Vaughan. And after one is dressed and fed, there is something nice about being up when all is dark and only an occasional house shows a flicker of light. And so we drove on, stopping in Troy only long enough to deposit a sleepy child with his grandmother whom she promptly told she hadn't had any breakfast.

The day was perfect, as though nature was trying to show Murray the Law School and the Football Walk of Fame before the parade. And once we had taken our places for that even we saw John Milton Wise, his wife, children and mother-in-law, all of Bentley standing across from us. Mack and Tulah Wise were with them and they seemed to be having a grand time. A little further down the street were Bernice and Bill Maddox who waved to us. And in the parade itself we saw Janet Warr whose entry was later announced to be a parade winner. And, of course, Tommy Vaughan rode the float with the lovely Homecoming Queen as president of the Student Government Association. We were proud of our Elba children.

We didn't see them, but know that Bill Stokes, Jim Clay, Walt Cox and Gareth Lindsey attended. And Bob Hayes, Jr., Lewey Stephens, Drexel Crook and Jack Smart on the way to the stadium.

About the house itself, we cannot find enough adjectives to do it justice. The "elegant," "spacious," "beautiful" fall short of describing this house which deserves the title "mansion." The two formal reception rooms are paneled in the lovely wood paneling that brought fame to Williamsburg cabinet makers. In the dining room the same type painting has been stained an antique green and the less formal library is done in real walnut woods. The grandeur of the entire house is accentuated by the appropriateness of the furnishings and draperies.

And the whole is a tribute to Eloise Turner who has given every detail and accessory the most careful scrutiny. It is a house that will stand in quiet dignity for years for there is nothing pretentious about it. And I'll be glad to give anyone all the minute details. Just call.

We also saw and chatted with Lela Ann (Sawyer) and Martin Dyess of Huntsville, she looking radiant in a suit of gold with mint collar and large dressmaker buttons. They told us Lorene and Sam Sawyer were to meet them for the game. Priscilla O'Gwyn and John Finlay, both of Enterprise, were nice to see, both being members of our first speech class. John looked real "Troy League" in dark suit and matching vest. And this is a real trend at "Bama. Did not see a single boy without a vest buttoned all the way and coat worn open. The girls are equally stylish in plaid kilts and blouses worn with knee socks and loafers. And, praise be, this year the girls looked like girls having declared all that extreme eye make-up as passé.

As we drove home a cat bearing the Coffee County tag passed us and we decided it contained Jerry Brunson, Carolyn and Lester Brunson and others we did not recognize. And at the Holiday Inn where we had a late supper, Charles and Jean Burgess of Opp came to see us. They were having been an usher in our wedding and a long-time friend. And so, even though we journeyed to see our more friends and Elbians than we see on many days at home.

ON THAT SAME DAY many friends were across the state at the fairest village. And we have always regretted not being able to see them. There is much to interest many. Do we call them as we go? We would call me with the interesting details. As we don't like to have people of our friends and Elbians and even neglected.

But heard via the grapevine that Ora and Al Sewell were stumped by a pretty did Cupidine and Lloyd Crook and they found themselves seated near Sam and Catherine Casey of Dothan. So there was lots of conversation, here! Jane and Russell Cash took their two boys, a niece from Birmingham and Barbara McDonald and Sibley Taylor also met many friends there. And all enjoyed a most thrilling game.

REGRETTED to learn that the same type painting has been stained an antique green and the less formal library is done in real walnut woods. The grandeur of the entire house is accentuated by the appropriateness of the furnishings and draperies.

CIVIL DEFENSE DISCUSSED BY LAWRENCE BOWDEN AT NEW HOPE P. T. A.

There was a very large attendance at the New Hope P. T. A. meeting on November 1, when the program highlighted Civil Defense.

Lawrence Bowden from the State Civil Defense Department was the speaker. After his informative talk on Civil Defense, he invited questions from the audience. Much interest was displayed by those attending.

A timely devotion was given by Reverend Gerald Fordham, pastor of the New Hope Baptist Church.

The president, Mrs. Johnny McElrath, conducted a short business session. The Secretary, Mrs. Estelene Helms, read the minutes of the last meeting. Plans were formulated for a barbecue to be held on November 16 for the purpose of raising funds for lunchroom improvement.

The refreshment table was covered with a yellow cloth and the harvest theme was predominant in the cornucopia of punch, cookies, and potato chips served by the junior high school girls.

Hostesses for the occasion were Mesdames Randolph Wilson, Mrs. A. W. Wilson, Mrs. Eutoka Johnson, Mrs. Merle Bragg and Mrs. Jimmie Prestwood.
